CANADIAN VETERANS HOLD REUNION IN LONDON

STATE MAY PAY STAFF OF SCHOOLS

Will Provincial Government Face Policy of Paying Whole of Teachers' Salaries Hereafter?

BUILDINGS WOULD REMAIN TO BOARDS

Report Credits Minister With Intention to Favor Tax of One-Half of One Per Cent on Income

THE Minister of Education is pursuing his efforts to find a solution for the difficulty which is faced in the Province of British Columbia—in common with that of other provinces—of granting relief to those upon whom the school taxation appears to press unfairly. Hon. J. Hinchliffe, at the approaching session of the Legislature, will most assuredly introduce amendments to the act to grant some relief, even if it is not to the full extent that he hopes to afford before he finally disposes of the subject.

The co-operation of the Union of B.C. Municipalities and the School Trustees' Association of B.C. in the matter has assisted materially in the getting of exact information relative to the subject.

While Mr. Hinchliffe is still keeping a very open mind on the subject of securing more equitable adjustment of taxation for school purposes, there is no doubt that he has rather advanced ideas. One aspect of the situation as to schools that is advanced is that education is essentially a national problem. The nation is concerned primarily with the educating of the children who are to handle the affairs of the country.

Under the system adopted in Canada, the provinces are charged with educational matters rather than the national government, and it therefore becomes a question as to whether the Government of the Province should not bear the whole cost of providing teachers for the schools.

SUPPLY BUILDINGS
The municipalities, on the other hand, might be asked to provide the buildings within which the educational work is carried out. As the owner of these buildings, the municipalities might be expected to provide the necessary schools and the province provide the teachers.

Such a course would be welcomed. It is safe to say, by the way, that there would be a very heavy charge placed upon the province beyond what has existed. It is questionable therefore whether at one leap such a course could be adopted.

Capture Assailant of Italy's Prince

FERNANDO di Rosa in the hands of the police after he had tried to assassinate the young Crown Prince of Italy. The attempt took place at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Brussels, a few hours after the announcement of the Prince's betrothal to Princess Jose, daughter of the King of the Belgians. The arrest of his assailant, an Italian law student, was accomplished only after a fierce struggle in which ten policemen took part.

B.C. FARMERS ASKED TO JOIN IN ITINERARY

May Be Section of Antipodean Tour Next Year With British and South African Groups

WILL LEAVE NEXT FEBRUARY

Through the Department of Agriculture there is an invitation to British Columbia farmers to take advantage of a trip which has been arranged for representative farmers from Great Britain, South Africa and Canada to pay a visit to New Zealand and Australia next Spring.

The tour is being arranged under the auspices of the British National Union in co-operation with the New Zealand Farmer's Union and the South African National Union. Arrangements will be made to see the farming sections of the Antipodean parts of the Empire on the trip.

Lord Bledisloe, late under secretary for agriculture, is to act as the leader of the party. They will be about thirty to thirty-four days spent in New Zealand, and from seven to ten days in Australia, in the states of New South Wales and Victoria.

Arrangements have been made for fifty British farmers, with fifteen from South Africa and fifteen from Canada if possible. The idea in view is to foster closer relations among those engaged in agricultural pursuits in the various parts of the Empire.

The Canadian contingent is due to leave on the R.M.S. Aorangi on February 8, and arrive in Auckland on February 24. The British party and the South African contingent, traveling separately by other routes, will reach there about the same day or a day earlier. The criteria for the Canadian party is planned to be by way of San Francisco by the S.S. Makura some time in April. The cost of the trip is placed at a minimum amount of $160, or about $177.

If any farmers from British Columbia would like to avail themselves of the opportunity they are advised to get in touch with the Department of Agriculture for the province.

Two of Four Lost Flyers Now Safe

ST. FELICIEN, Que., Nov. 8.—Two of the four missing flyers, who have been the object of a wide search over the wilderness between St. Pelicien and Chibougamau for nearly a month, were reported safe today. Mechanic Parley, who had been missing since October 18, when he went out with Officer Bonard, of the Royal Air Force, to search for Canon and Lisotte, two aviators who had been missing since October 9, walked into Chute McLeod today and telephoned the search base at St. Pelicien.

He had tramped from the head of the Peribonka River, on Lake Manuan, a distance of about 180 miles, leaving Pilot Officer Bonard in charge of the machine, which had been forced down at that spot.

Fund for Blind Campaign Passes $18,000 Figure

A SUM of more than $4,000 was received yesterday at the headquarters of the Campaign for the Blind, situated at 1203 Broad Street. This sum, which was considerably in advance of Thursday's receipts, brings the total amount of money received this week to beyond $18,000.

The workers and members of the committee, feeling the responsibility of Victoria's undertaking to raise the sum of $50,000 towards the building of an Institute for the Blind in Vancouver, have all expressed the keenest desire to carry on the campaign until the objective has been reached.

Among many of the much appreciated cheques which were received yesterday was one from the Victoria Police. This had been entirely unsolicited, and was for the sum of $300.

PASTOR BACK FROM TRIP TO OLDER LANDS

Rev. W. G. Wilson, D.D., Describes Meeting in Edinburgh, Marking Union of Scottish Churches

TRAVELED WIDELY IN CENTRAL EUROPE

"An assemblage unrivaled in Scotland since the Reformation" is the manner in which Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson, pastor of First United Church, Victoria, characterized the first general assembly of the united churches of Scotland, on his return to the city yesterday afternoon. A big delegation from his church was at the boat to welcome Dr. and Mrs. Wilson and their young daughter, who have traveled in Europe for the last five months, and a salvo of cheers greeted them as they set foot on the gangway.

Although he had many interesting experiences and met many interesting people while visiting Great Britain, Belgium, Germany, France, Austria, Czechoslovakia and Italy, the outstanding incident of the trip was the great meeting at Edinburgh, which marked the coming together of the Church of Scotland and the United Free Church of Scotland after their long separation.

BADEN-BADEN, Nov. 8.—Governor Luis Frank of the Bank of Belgium, and another Belgian delegate, M. Paul Van Zeeland, tonight withdrew from the conference for establishment of a bank of international settlements. Their act was in protest against the elimination of Brussels as the site for the bank, on alleged political grounds.

REJECTS BILL TO STIMULATE NEW MIGRANTS

Labor Government Says Unemployment Conditions in Dominions Have to Be Considered

NATIONALITY OF WOMEN MEASURE

LONDON, Nov. 8.—The Government expressed its ability to assent to a bill brought up for second reading today, designed to amend the Empire Settlement Act, 1922, at least in its present form. The bill was introduced by Mr. A. A. Somerville, Conservative, Windsor-Berkshire.

Hon. Arthur Ponsonby, under-secretary for the Dominions, said at the moment he could not describe the Government's policy. There were grave employment problems in Canada, Australia and New Zealand which very naturally might make those countries hesitate to take advantage of any great influx of new population.

While all of them wished to build up their future populations on British stock, they had set up certain regulations, and the Government had to consult them at every stage regarding their wishes.

It was because these conversations were proceeding that it was impossible to make any statement of policy. The debate was adjourned indefinitely.

WOMEN'S NATIONALITY

The text of the bill "allowing women marrying foreigners to retain their nationality" was made public today. It is to be presented to Parliament by Captain V. A. Casale, Conservative, and is supported by the Countess of Iveagh, Conservative, and Miss E. Picton-Turberville, Labor.

The bill is intended to restore to British women the right of retaining their nationality after marriage.

Welland Canal to Open for Traffic Next Midsummer

OTTAWA, Nov. 8.—The Welland Canal, upon which many scores of millions of dollars have been spent will open for regular through traffic about midsummer of next year, it was stated today by officers of the Department of Railways. It is expected next season's crop will be routed through the canal, but that traffic will begin to use this waterway before that time.

MAJORITY FOR NEW PREMIER PROVES LARGE

Speeches of M. Tardieu and M. Briand Turn French Deputies in Support of Government

IS TRIUMPH FOR YOUNG MINISTER

PARIS, Nov. 9.—The Chamber of Deputies voted confidence in the Government of Premier Andre Tardieu, 327 against 256 today.

The Government majority of seventy-one was greater than had been expected when the session began last evening. The vote was taken at 3:30 a.m., and before the count had been checked it was unofficially reported that the Government had won, although by a smaller margin than the actual majority.

M. Briand, the last previous Premier and now Foreign Minister in the Tardieu cabinet, had been defeated by the Chamber of Deputies by nine votes at the opening session of Parliament last month. The last vote of confidence in the cabinet of former Premier Poincare gave him a majority of 140 votes after he had appealed for three months in which to deal with pressing affairs.

GREAT ADDRESS

M. Briand had spoken for hours yesterday at the first session of the Chamber, reviewing his long career in the service of France, and justifying his acts, particularly in regard to occupation of the Rhineland and German reparations. Nearly all parties except Communists shared in the ovation given him at the close.

Premier Tardieu took up the task of winning support for the new cabinet at about 11 o'clock last night. He obtained cheers for his Government when he announced that evacuation of the Rhineland by June 30, 1930, would not occur unless Young plan was in full operation. This declaration by the Premier did not bring the cheers from the Left groups that had greeted the earlier speech of Foreign Minister Aristide Briand. He had won thunderous applause by his personal justification of his part in French affairs since the war, made in one of the longest speeches of his career.

On a second vote of confidence, the Government majority rose to 79, the vote being 332 against 253.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—The Senate today approved, without debate, a reduction in the tariff on automobiles and motorcycles from 25 to 10 per cent ad valorem.

Bad Weather for Flying Cause of Plane Accidents

LE BOURGNET, France, Nov. 8.—Karl Delattre, of Minneapolis, and Dorothy Turner, of Jersey City, were injured today in the forced landing of a Brussels-Liaison airplane in a field near Louvain.

Two planes on this passenger line were forced down by poor visibility. One carried twelve and the other eight passengers. The Paris-London air service was suspended because of what was termed the worst flying weather in the year.

The steamship Argand today located an Alger-Marseilles seaplane which was forced landing in the Mediterranean on Thursday, and rescued passengers, crew and mail. The plane came down seventy miles north of the Balearic Isles.

Valuable Area in Central Portion of West Coast Would Be Opened by Proposed Highway

SETTLEMENTS ARE NOW ISOLATED

Route by Way of Elk River Is Considered Best, With Minimum Climb Over Watershed Divide

IN urging the Public Works Department to build the much-talked-of West Coast Road from Sproat Lake to Long Beach, the Clayoquot Sound Conservative Association, Tofino Good Roads League, cannery operators, mining men, lumbermen, fishermen and others all feel that the thirty-five-mile stretch is at present vital to future development of the industrial areas of the West Coast of Vancouver Island.

Terminating at short distance from the rolling Pacific, the proposed road would join the route to the fishing village of Tofino, partly along the hard white sands of famous Long Beach. At the present time there is a road between Ucluelet and Tofino, graveled and bridged, but only used by the few automobiles and trucks during the summer, on account of several stretches of boggy ground.

From Port Alberni, west, the tributary territory served would include the majority of West Coast industries. Clayoquot Sound is the site of the thriving settlement of Tofino, Clayoquot, Ahousat, Sidney Inlet and other villages. Also on the Sound are five pilchard reduction plants, one salmon cannery. Two sawmills with their camps, the Tidewater Copper Company's mines at Sidney Inlet, a Roman Catholic mission at Kakawa and a Presbyterian mission at Ahousat.

In Refuge Cove is the famous West Coast hot spring, the rendezvous of fishermen in the summer. Slightly sulphurous, the spring supplies waterfalls with several pools below for bathing. Many suffering from rheumatism camp on the site and use the falls as a natural shower to good effect. This is only one of the West Coast's many little known attractions, open at present only to those traveling by ship.

VALUABLE MINING AREA
Aside from opening to the public some of the finest scenery upon Vancouver Island, the new road would result in great mining activity, particularly for copper, in places now attainable only by a Government.

Adjust Wages of Participants in Winnipeg Strike

OTTAWA, Nov. 8.—Winnipeg postal strike of 1919 who subsequently rejoined the Post Office service at a lower rate of pay, have had their salaries fully readjusted, Mr. E. J. Venoit, Postmaster-General, declared today.

Ninety-nine men in all have just received readjustment cheques under the provisions of the 24th session of Parliament. Approximately $80,000 was paid to these employees after every individual case had been examined into from a readjustment standpoint, the Postmaster-General declared.

The readjustment payments in the various instances varied from $30 to as high as $1,800. The effect of this action entirely cleans a grievance held by these postal workers who since joining the service after the strike have been receiving a lower rate of pay than other employees performing the same class of work. The amount authorized last session in a bill introduced was $100,000, but in the readjustment Mr. Venoit found only $80,000 of this amount was required.

LIVELY TIME COMING FOR U.S. TARIFF

Republican Split Over Measure Likely to Bring House and Senate Into Vigorous Conflict

PRESIDENT MAY BE FORCED TO FIGHT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—The tariff struggle most probably will hurry into the regular session of Congress beginning next month, and Administration leaders are beginning to wonder if the deep schism in the Republican ranks of the Senate on the farm relief and tariff proposals of President Hoover will continue, too.

"Out of the trenches by Christmas" is the cry now being heard as the weary Senators plug determinedly away on the tariff bill.

END CANNOT BE SEEN

Hope for passage of the measure by the Senate before December, when the regular session of Congress opens, has about been abandoned.

Senators on both sides of the aisle are beginning to figure on adjournment of the special session. Indications, however, point to an adjournment only over the week-end of Thanksgiving Day. Whether or not the Senate finally disposes of the tariff bill before Thanksgiving Day, the ensuing conferences between Senate and House over an adjustment of their differences on legislation seems destined to extend into next year, and the tariff is now looked upon as a necessary item on the regular session programme.

CRAFTS SEEK FORTY-HOUR WEEK POLICY

Meeting of All Interested in Building Trades Called to Consider Establishment of Practice Here

WOULD CUT FOUR HOURS EACH WEEK

Called under the auspices of the Victoria Building Trades Council, a meeting has been set at the Labor Hall on Thursday next to consider the policy of a forty-hour week in the building trades of this city, instead of forty-four, as at present attended.

It is not intended to limit the meeting to crafts' unions, but an invitation is extended to architects, contractors and citizens, as providing the funds for building operations, to ascertain if public opinion here is ready for the adoption of the policy which has been followed in many other places.

It is explained that the actual result would not be so revolutionary in the building crafts as might appear, as a number of the constituent unions already work a forty-hour week.

It is understood that the deputy minister of labor, Mr. J. D. McIven, will attend the meeting.

Risks Own Life To Save That of Wounded Friend

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C., Nov. 8.—Risking personal safety to rush a wounded deer hunter to hospital here, James Lewis, of Kitkatla, arrived in Prince Rupert today with C. Temple, also of Kitkatla, who was accidentally shot in the shoulder while on a hunting trip, twenty miles from his home.

Temple's companion on the hunting trip placed his wounded friend in a small boat and rowed eighteen miles to Kitkatla. He was in a state of utter exhaustion upon arrival, but was able to attract the attention of the villagers by firing three shots. Aid was immediately forthcoming and Lewis placed Temple on the launch and started for Prince Rupert. During the trip one of the wildest gales of the Autumn developed and at times the boat was in danger of being swamped.

SIX HUNDRED SERVICE MEN HOLD DINNER

First of Celebrations in Great Metropolis to Commemorate Signing of World War Armistice

V.C.'S ARE ALL IN ATTENDANCE

Notable Gathering of Those Who Wore the Canadian Uniform—Fought Battles Over Again

LONDON, Nov. 8.—Six hundred men who wore the Canadian uniform between 1914 and 1918, dined here tonight and renewed their memories of the Armistice together. For some years now there has been such an annual celebration in London, but this year's gathering, on various accounts, was more memorable than any preceding one.

The attendance of the Victoria Cross holders who came from Canada for the dinner at which the Prince of Wales will preside tomorrow night, constituted in itself an historic event.

LORD BYNG ABSENT

It had been hoped Lord Byng, the old Commander of the Canadian Corps, former Governor-General of Canada and now Commissioner of the Metropolitan Police, would have "resumed command" for this one night. But, unhappily, Lord Byng was unable to come even for a short time, for he is under the care of a doctor, although not actually in hospital. "Our celebration is, and always will be, one of the most uplifting events in my calendar," wrote Lord Byng tonight. "But it is rendered even more soul stirring this year by the presence in our midst of those from Canada who gained the Victoria Cross."

In Lord Byng's place the chair was taken by Lieut.-Colonel Henry Hurstall, who was a distinguished Canadian soldier long before the Great War, in which he finished as Commander of the Second Division and who is now a quiet life in pleasant Hampshire.

The men around him tonight constituted quite a little panorama of personality. Prince Arthur of Connaught was for some time on the staff of the Canadian Corps with Lord Byng. So was Right Hon. Lord Sinclair, who tonight acted as secretary.

STATE MAY PAY STAFF OF SCHOOLS

A partial redress along this line might be afforded by the province assuming a greater share in the payment of teachers' salaries than at present, thus relieving the municipalities, but putting a heavier burden upon the provincial revenues.

INCOME TAX INCREASE

While it is unlikely that the minister has arrived at a definite decision as yet on the subject, and will endeavor to weigh all the different plans before he reaches a point where he can ask the Government to give its sanction to his plan, to be in turn placed before the Legislature for endorsement, the feeling appears to be that he is going to recommend something approaching this course and one of the delegation from the Union of B.C. Municipalities who waited on the minister the other day, Councilor Lambert of Burnaby, has announced that the intention of Mr. Hinchliffe is to provide for from 70 per cent to as high as 90 or 95 per cent of the teachers' salaries in rural schools, while in cities like Vancouver and Victoria only 60 per cent will be so provided.

This, it is announced by the same delegate, would call for only one-half of one per cent increase in the income tax of the province. Mr. Hinchliffe has agreed to meet Burnaby municipal heads this evening.

ment trail from Kennedy Lake to Sprout Lake. The proposed route from the West Coast would follow the shores of Kennedy Lake for many miles. The hills about the lake, the largest on the island, abound in elk, deer, bear, geese, wild swans and willow grouse. The elk and swans are protected by the Government and watched over by attendants at the fish hatchery at Kennedy Lake.

Having no mosquitoes at any time of the year, the lake has been suggested as an ideal summer resort with its trout fishing, nearness to Long Beach and sandy beaches. West Coast residents point out that few engineering difficulties would be encountered if the road followed the Elk River gorge, the upper reaches of Elk River at the saddle making one of the easiest passes across the central island range. In addition, the elevation is so low that snow in the winter would not interrupt traffic.

It is in the Elk River area that some of the richest finds of copper and gold prospects upon the island lie. The timber there is mostly cedar, much being held by the Sutton Lumber Company, which holds water reserve rights with a view to erecting a pulp mill and power plant. Through Taylor Divide the road would connect with Sprout Lake, Port Alberni, other island towns and Victoria.

NEED OF COMMUNICATION

If built, the road would allow West Coast residents to go to Victoria or Vancouver and return within forty-eight hours. Hospital cases, cannery men and others would be able to reach island centres in a fraction of the time now required. At present residents between Port Renfrew and Port Alice, with the exception of a launch service between Barkley Sound and Port Alberni, are only able to reach Victoria by steamer three times a month.

With completion of the West Coast road, daily communication between Port Alberni, Long Beach and Tofino would undoubtedly be established. From Tofino it would be possible to operate a launch service to northern points, the route being sheltered with the exception of Estevan Point.

Industry benefiting from the road would include the Nootka Packing Company, Nootka; Estevan Logging Company, Mulchalet Arm; B.C. Packers, Hecate; pilchard plants at Creekside, Tahar Narrows, Hecate Cove and Esplanade.

The union meeting in Edinburgh attracted representative ministers and laymen from all parts of the world. The great auditorium contained 12,000 seats, but not one remained unoccupied a month before the assembly opened, many thousands of people having to be refused admission. The King, who was unable owing to illness to be present, sent the Duke and Duchess of York as his personal representatives. Their Royal Highnesses were present at all the sessions but one, and the Duke of York spoke twice. Two of the most memorable addresses in Dr. Wilson's view, were that made by the Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Cosmo Gordon Lang, and by the Venerable Lord Davidson, former Archbishop of Canterbury. As spokesman of the most powerful church in the world outside that of Rome, the Archbishop of Canterbury's expressed sentiment in favor of union of all the Christian churches had made a profound impression. Dr. Wilson said, Scotland, which has been the stage of many stirring religious movements, was deeply moved by the proceedings of the assembly. It was generally considered that through Great Britain that there had never been a gathering in the history of Scotland which had attracted such a representative audience of men and women in the mental, moral and religious life of the day.

On Canoe Trip; Hudson Bay to Cuba

HERE is a picture of the four adventurers, Charles Plaischek, his half-Eskimo son and daughter, Tony, aged nine, and Inez, aged nine, and their friend in adventure, Frank O'Grady, who are canoeing from Chesterfield to Cuba. Their hooded coats of caribou skin, their colorful ribbons they displayed, attracted much attention when they arrived in Winnipeg. The little lady wore white silk stockings, somewhat too large for her. The boy had more orthodox garb for the North—cozy black leg coverings of ribbed wool.

SIX HUNDRED SERVICE MEN HOLD DINNER

Lord Greenwood, one of the latest peers, although he did not wear a Canadian uniform in the war, served with English units and has often told English auditors how he once put his father in the guard room as a cadet in Whitchy, Ont.

Not the least interesting of the personages around the chairman tonight was the chaplain, Rev. C. G. Wells, who enlisted as a private in the 72nd Vancouver Battalion, and was wounded and discharged with 100 per cent disability pension. Taking holy orders, he is now rector at a quiet little place in Sussex.

Among those present were Major-General G. J. Farmer, Lieut.-General Sir William Anderson, Colonel Hon. Angus McDermott, Lieut.-Colonel E. Wayland, Lieut.-Colonel W. A. Bishop, V.C., Colonel Sir George Badgert and Hon. T. G. Coventry.

FROM ALL PARTS

As for the general company tonight there were at least a dozen who came from France and a couple from Denmark. One man of substance, who was a private in the Canadian Expeditionary Force, and who now farms near Peterborough, Northamptonshire, brought at his own expense twenty-seven former Canadians from around Northamptonshire countryside.

Apart from the Victoria Cross men, it was a gallant six hundred who warred with knives and forks. The waters of the Victoria Cross were placed together at right angles to the chair. There was speech-making, of course, but the main thing was the renewal of old acquaintances, swapping gossip and singing war-time songs: "Hail, Hail," "There's a Long, Long, Long Trail" and many others which readers who went through those days will always remember.

Amidst the jollity and general singing came a pause as the chaplain reverently gave the toast of "Our Absent Friends," which was followed by "The Last Post"—a deep silence and then Reveille.

When Your Cough Hangs On, Mix This at Home

The best cough remedy that money could buy, can easily be mixed at home. It saves money and gives you the most reliable, quick acting medicine you ever used. The way it takes hold of stubborn coughs and chest colds, giving immediate relief, is astonishing.

Any druggist can supply you with 25¢ ounces of Pinex. Four to six 10¢ oz. bottles, and fill up with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. It's no trouble at all to mix, and when you once use it, you will never be without it. It's a perfect, perfect and tastes good—children really like it.

It is surprising how quickly this lone-leafed Pinex relieves the inflamed membranes and soothes the inflamed membranes. At the same time, part of blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes and helps the system throw off the whole trouble. Even those severe coughs which follow cold epidemics, are promptly ended.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing else in medicine is more helpful in cases of severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

His only observation when asked about this was that "it was very interesting hearing the German point of view." When Snowden was "fighting with his back to the wall" Dr. and Mrs. Wilson were in Paris, and sensed how high French feeling ran during the discussions, particularly during the time of crisis in The Hague conference. The French had been by no means slow to express their feelings in their own press. The approval with which England received Snowden's efforts was very apparent in the enthusiasm of the British reception, which Dr. Wilson arrived back in time to see.

Apert from their very interesting visit in Great Britain, which included extended stays in London, Edinburgh, and other cities, Dr. and Mrs. Wilson traveled over a third of the world, visiting Berlin and nine other principal cities. Vienna, Paris, Rome, Switzerland and Czechoslovakia were also in their itinerary. Czechoslovakia evidently made a wonderfully favorable impression on Dr. Wilson, who was apparently surprised at the splendid organization of industry, and the thrift and enterprise of the people. Before they left the Continent they spent a brief time among the battlefields.

Here, take the wheel, driving the night was stormy, and the captain's son stood watching his father steering the little vessel. Whishing to consult his chart, the captain said to the boy: "Here take the wheel. I'll be back in a few minutes. Steer by the star and you will be all right."

The boy began to steer the vessel, and soon got her out of her course. When the star appeared at the stern instead of ahead, he shouted proudly to his father: "Come and find me another star, dad! I've passed that one!"

Teacher: What is your name, little boy?
Boy: I don't know.
Teacher: How does your mother call you when she has cake and ice cream for dinner?
Boy: She don't call me, I'm there already.

Minister (meeting man about to enter public house): You know, my man, that that door will surely take you to hell?
"That don't matter, minister," replied the man. "They'll turn us all out again at ten o'clock."

THE GOLD STANDARD

If there were a gold standard in this country then gold would be in circulation, but, for practical purposes, it is not. In order to keep up the fiction of a gold standard the Federal Government is said to have asked the banks to refrain from shipping their reserves of gold to New York. In conjunction with this the Department of Finance claims that Canada has not departed from a gold standard, which theoretically may be right but in practice it is far from the truth. New York exchange is now at a premium of 17-8 per cent, while gold can be shipped to New York at 5-8 of one per cent. The banks are, therefore, asked to refrain from taking a profit of approximately 11-8 per cent.

The financial situation in Canada, according to all astute observers, is being determined, very largely by the wheat situation. The Dominion has a half crop to sell, and the Wheat Pool has decided that it will not be sold until higher prices than now prevail are obtainable. In adopting this course the Pool is assuming a responsibility which is affecting every phase of Canada's financial life. All Canada has been financing the grain growers during the producing era. The situation now is that the lenders, the banks and other business houses, have a right to expect that their advances will be repaid before navigation closes. Mr. H. K. S. Hemming, of Montreal, in a letter to The Montreal Star says: "When the business man who has foreign bills to pay discovers that for every $100 that he owes he has to give his banker $101.88 for a bill of exchange, with the possibility of higher figures if the situation becomes more acute, he will do some thinking, and he will have the right to ask those in Ottawa who control the fiscal affairs of this country whether Canada is not in a position of serious and unnecessary dependence upon other countries. If the partial failure of a single crop of wheat is sufficient to place us in a position of being unable to pay our debts, we admittedly are far from being a self-supporting nation. Moreover, the $1.88 when added to import costs becomes about $5 by the time that the imported article is sold at retail to the consumer, just as is the case with the 2 per cent sales tax."

There is nothing surprising in the present financial situation. Imports to Canada from foreign countries are growing at such a rate that a poor wheat crop has aggravated the trade situation, and the aggravation has been emphasized by the action of the Wheat Pool in attempting to dictate the price of Canadian produce. Canada is exporting gold, and, under existing conditions, will continue to export it. As long as the balance of trade and finance is against the country Mr. Hemming says that Canada has no choice except to pay up the difference in gold.

THE DECLINE IN CHAUTAUQUAS

It was in 1874 that Rev. John H. Vincent, then a zealous young Methodist minister destined to become a bishop, organized the first meeting of the Sunday School Teachers' Assembly on the shores of Chautauqua Lake in Western New York. This was not solely a religious gathering. It was Bishop Vincent's idea to make Chautauqua Lake the scene of an annual pilgrimage on the part of men and women eager for knowledge. International affairs were discussed as well as literature, economics and politics. Innumerable courses were given by college professors and high school teachers. It was, as Henry James found on the occasion of a visit, unspeakably dreary and second-rate, but the idea spread, and soon there were similar permanent Summer assemblies in many parts of the United States. As the nineteenth century closed, Chautauqua Lake and its respectful imitators were booming. Later, as the co-operative methods of big business came along, arrangements were made whereby the more costly lecturers could visit many of the assemblies at reduced rates for the season—and then the stationery Chautauquas began to hear such figures as Presidents Grant, Garfield and McKinley, and even Roosevelt. William Jennings Bryan started his Chautauqua career about this time, and since then Chautauquas have included all sorts of "uplift" speakers from Rev. Billy Sunday to the late Professor Elliott, of Columbia University.

By 1900 there were scores of traveling Chautauquas running in the States, and some in Canada. In that year radio had not been dreamed of, motion pictures were still in their infancy, the motor car was not the possession (and obsession) of the average American citizen that it is now. Above all, the Great War had not been fought, and the vast transition in the outlook of American youth with respect to what is and what is not legitimate pleasure had not developed on the horizon. Still, there were murmurings of discontent with the large amount of "uplift" matter in Chautauqua programmes. Less moralising and more fun became the cry, and it appeared that Chautauquas would have to shut up shop or transform themselves more and more into something resembling the traveling circus, which latter possibility the old-timers in the movement regarded with horror. Then came the first mutterings of national Prohibition, and it was inevitable that the dry pioneers seeking new ways to spread the gospel of Prohibition should have gazed with envious eyes on these ready-to-hand audiences. Indeed, it has been loudly asserted that the Eighteenth Amendment would never have carried but for the influence of "Prohibition spell-binders in the Chautauquas of America." When America finally decided to enter the war it was but natural that Chautauqua platforms should be used to stir up patriotic feeling and to push the sale of Liberty bonds. Now that Prohibition is a dead issue as far as gate receipts are concerned, and martial ardor has been swallowed up in a sea of material prosperity and pacifism, the Chautauqua has struck lean times. There is far more difficulty than formerly to get people to turn out to lectures which they can hear over their radios. Nor are they very much interested in third-rate vaudeville now that nearly every township in the country has its picture palace; when "uplift" is on tap by some orator at every board of trade local gathering, and while unregenerate youth prefers the call of the open spaces by way of his car, to the Summer stiffness of the perambulating Chautauqua tent.

The end of Chautauqua in America is not yet. It still makes an appeal to people of a certain type. Its programmes are changing overnight. Instead of serious themes holding the predominant place the vaudeville element is becoming the dominant factor. A Chautauqua now-a-days which does not contain items which are professionally sensational (though not as yet risqué) can rarely be made to pay its way. In fact the ordinary type of lecturer-on-stump has had his day as far as the Chautauqua is concerned, and is reverting to more lucrative, if less easy and genteel ways of making a living, since the Chautauqua, his one-time stand-by, has need of him no more.

THE BRAVEST OF THE BRAVE

This evening the Victoria Cross holders are being banqueted in London by the Prince of Wales. They have gathered from all over the Empire, and only a handful of those alive who have been decorated with the supreme reward For Valor will be absent when the roll is called. There has never been a similar gathering in the history of the Empire. The only analogy to it is the dinner held in London annually for the survivors of the Charge of the Light Brigade at Balaklava, and the ranks of those now so thinned that we believe the anniversary celebration has been abandoned.

The Victoria Cross dinner should establish a new anniversary celebration of the Great War on the eve, as it were, of Armistice Day. It is a noble and kindly thought of His Royal Highness. Such deeds as those for which the Victoria Cross is awarded deserve perpetual commemoration. They are a traditional inspiration for courage in the face of great odds. There has been no such assembly as that gathered in London for tonight's celebration in the history of the human race. It is the reunion of the bravest of the brave.

Ireland alone within the Empire has signed the League of Nations' resolution, without reservations, which provides that all disputes between countries will be carried to The Hague for arbitration. The rest of the Empire in signing has made the reservation that any disputes between different parts of the Empire will be decided, not by The Hague, but, as in the past, by the Judicial Committee of the Imperial Privy Council. Free State Ireland evidently believes that any dispute it may have, with Northern Ireland, for instance, should be decided by The Hague. A condition of that kind arising can readily be imagined. The British Empire has not yet reached a stage wherein purely domestic affairs of the Empire are going to be referred to any outside tribunal, and least of all the affairs of Ireland.

The proposal for an extension of the hours of polling in Federal elections brought forward by the Victoria Liberal Association is one deserving of every support. From 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., as suggested, would lead to a larger vote, and one object of any election is to get out the largest vote possible. At present the polls close at 6 p.m., which doubtless prevents many from registering their votes.

THE CROWD

I love the crowd that fills the city street,
The endless stream of people passing by.
Here in equality before my eye
I see the rich man and the beggar meet.
I try to lift the veil that masks each face,
That I may read the hope that spurs some on;
Or in a countenance forlorn and wan
The dark despair behind the lagging pace.
Here in the schoolroom of humanity,
I learn of grit and courage when I see
The little crippled boy struggling at his desk.
A sightless fiddler playing near at hand.
With such as these belonging, I am proud
To call myself a member of the crowd.

—Ray, in The Detroit News.

Note and Comment

By E. H. D.

There is no column in The Colonist corresponding to the "agony column" of The London Times. We suppose some correspondent will write a letter to the Editor pointing out that the prefix "London" is entirely superfluous, as there is but one Times in the world worthy of the name; but there are many newspapers in the world today, some of them highly important newspapers, which call themselves The Times, and it may be just as well to make a necessary distinction. But there is not a newspaper in the world that we know of which carries such a unique feature as "the agony column" of The London Times. The Colonist doesn't, but The Colonist carries two or three pages of "classified ads," and we would consider that day laid upon which we failed to devote a certain amount of time to reading the advertisements in the "classified" pages.

Under the Lost and Found heading in the "classified" pages will be found almost any morning announcements which testify to the abiding faith entertained by some people in the inherent honesty of humanity. Sometimes we think that that faith, like the faith of Right Hon. Ramsay MacDonald in the inherent and fundamental goodness and generosity of the people of all nations, is more childlike than circumstances and experience warrant. Still we trust that the faith of the advertisers who announce that they have lost sums of money and that they will be grateful for the return of the money lost to given addresses is not invariably misplaced. But the temptation of flinders in such cases to say to themselves, "lovers weepers and flinders keepers," must be very great, and we fear that in most cases money found is put in immediate circulation. There are so many people in the world who are scornful of the proverb that "honesty is the best policy."

There are some things which the owners thereof may consider personal property, but which almost everybody else regards as common property. We have never seen an advertisement asking for the return of a lost umbrella. And what is true of umbrellas applies to books. Books are so common in these days of mechanical typesetting devices and fast rotary printing presses that nobody attaches much value to them. They are looked upon as vagrants, to be legitimately appropriated to the private purposes of any person who can lay hands upon them. In the old days the people, although few of them could read, must have had the same ideas of books as the people of the present day, for it was the custom in those days to secure very rare books (most of them printed in Latin) with chains and padlocks.

Glancing at the Lost and Found section of The Colonist this morning, we noticed the following advertisement: "I will pay to the funds of the Solarium fifty dollars for information leading to the safe return of one of my edition of Gilray's etchings." This book measures over two feet, and whoever is holding it cannot possibly be ignorant of its fact. However, no questions asked. Just return it, please, to C. M. Birnie, 1456 Beach Drive, Victoria, B.C."

We have consulted all available authorities, and cannot find out anything about the life and works of Gilray, but understand that he was one of the celebrated cartoonists of his generation—that is, he drew what the children of the present day call "funny pictures"—that the points in the pictures were chiefly somewhat poisonous barbs designed to penetrate the tough hides of politicians. But the book is rare and valuable, is "out of print" and never will be "in print," is a family heirloom, and cannot be replaced.

Having lost a book of a similar size but of quite a different type under almost similar circumstances, we can sympathize with Mr. Birnie in his loss and express the sincere hope that the people who are in possession of it, possibly inadvertently, may see the advertisement and demonstrate their honesty by returning it to the desolated owner. We suppose that a book so rare and of such elephantine size would bring a handsome figure if it were offered for sale to any person who appreciated its speculative value, but there would be a certain element of risk in offering such a conspicuous work, both in proportions and sentimental value, for sale. If we could recover the book we have lost, it would be made secure under chain and lock and key, in accordance with ancient practice. If Mr. Birnie recovers his book, he will know what to do with it. For his sake as well as for the sake of the donation promised to the Solarium, we trust that the publicity given the affair in the columns of The Colonist may be productive of gratifying results to all concerned.

LOCATION OF FIRE HALL

Sir—A while back when I read in the Colonist that the location of the grand jury, at the last session, held in Victoria, brought in a recommendation to the effect that the location of the grand jury should be antiquated and there was a possibility of valuable parchments getting burned, etc. With this I concur.

On the other hand, if I was the Premier of the Province, when our representatives of the City of Victoria approached me, the answer I would give them would be that no doubt it is essential that my Government build a new Court House in Victoria. Before you come here telling me that the Government of the business, it would be more business-like if the grand jurors of Victoria City paid more attention to the administration officials of Victoria. It most assuredly would be more business-like by virtue of the fact that here you have a condition within the corporation where the entrance of a fire hall is, so to speak, next door to a public market. It seems to me the grand jurors of Victoria City should value the lives and limbs of its citizens more than parchments.

WALTER INWARD.

1446 Lang Street, Victoria, B.C., November 8, 1920.

SOLDIER SETTLEMENT BOARD

Sir—I was reading in Wednesday's Colonist the account of the meeting of the returned men—soldier settlers—of Salmon Arm, B.C., who had protested against the treatment of the S.S.B.

My husband is one of the Salmon Arm veterans, and I am wondering if there is any news from him. He is now living on Vancouver Island. It is nearly three years since we left our farm. I still feel the injustice of the S.S.B. My husband, who was overseas from the beginning of the war, returned to this country in 1919. We went to Salmon Arm in 1920, and the S.S.B. Then our troubles began. Each year our crop was either dried up, no sale for same, or no crop at all. Last year our takings were fifty odd dollars—our taxes were $56. We paid the taxes and made a special journey over to Vernon to say we were unable to make a payment on the land. The officer in charge had the nerve to suggest that my husband worked on the roads to make the payments. We, and our animals, could starve as far as the S.S.B. cared.

The year we left we couldn't sell our crop, so decided to sell what belonged to us and get out of the country. The price to do so. In the meantime the S.S.B. put a lien on our crop. Luckily for us we had had the year before when we had found out there was no return for them. They immediately, by means of mail, sent us an order to quit the land. My husband was unable for that order was one of my husband's commanding officers in France.

I am wondering if on Armistice Day (if he and other men) when they bare their heads at the cenotaph to pay homage to the dead, will they remember the graves of justice they themselves have done to the men who are living? Men who endured the hardships of all those years for their King and country.

The S.S.B. was only created to find "cushy" jobs for spare colonies and settlers.

THE MACDONALD FAMILY

Sir—I note in your issue of November 1 a letter by Mr. Saville, criticising the highly paid Minister of the Interior, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, for his attitude towards the efforts of the returned men—soldier settlers—to obtain the land at the expense of the people. The Premier of Great Britain is a big job, and it cannot be filled by a theorist. The same policy of any Government is to use a Roosevelt expression) to "speak softly, but carry a big stick."

I hope The Colonist will continue to criticize any politician who is inconsistent and working for himself instead of fulfilling his pledges to the people. F. J. BOUWMEESTER, Glenaholm Hotel, Victoria, B.C., November 8, 1920.

FLOWER OF REMEMBRANCE

Poppies? Ah, yes for you they bloom:
Mid countless millions more;
While they who dwell beyond the tomb
Earth's sympathies implore.

Poppies for Peace! a shimmering cloud
Waves o'er their martial bed:
An Empire's flag the only shroud
Worthy our Glorious Dead.

Poppies! Wear one for him today
Who recks not his loss but his loss
Treading the battle-anguished way
To victory and the Cross.

Poppies! What though it be but one?
Wear it in memory
Of him Unknown, that Mother's son,
Who gave his all for thee.

—Jeanne Valdez.

Reminiscences of the Battle of the Somme

By H. W. HART

Hon. Orator, Armistice and Poppy Day Celebration

Courage and dash in the attack and fortitude in reverse are the qualities most referred to in stories of the war. Perhaps, it is natural to dwell on the fighting spirit of the troops, but there was another side, the memory of which will remain clear and bright when recollections of battle and slaughter are dimmed.

Those who laid on the battlefield with torn and broken limbs and bodies, and who were ministered to by comrades who might, at any moment, have been returned to the same condition, are not likely to forget the tenderness which the hardest and roughest showed.

And who, among them, will forget the self-sacrificing manner in which men, coming in to replace the casualties, gave the water, which might mean life or death, to them to the wounded who appealed to them by word or silent glance?

Will it ever be possible to eradicate memory of the man who, just going into the fight, answered the request for water by turning his bottle upside down and saying, "Sorry, old man, it's empty." He had passed a long line of wounded, and in passing he ministered to their needs, knowing his action might cost his own life.

Many were carried out of the danger zone by men who otherwise would have reached safety quickly and easily. The man who refused to put a wounded comrade down and save himself when the shells were spattering round, did not not think he was doing anything out of the ordinary. Neither was he. He was only doing what everyone considered to be a duty. But men who were carried out knew something the carrier could never know, unless he himself were carried out.

Many of these men who gave their water, risked their lives for others and performed duties of various kinds, of which the public knows nothing, are in need today. Many of them are dead, and in their memory we ask citizens to honor their memory in the only way that would be acceptable to them—by helping the living whose need is great.

PREPARE TO GREET MEN ON RETURN

Winnipeg Is Making Ready to Give Welcome to McAlpine Party on Arrival Back in City

Time of Arrival Back to Civilization Depends on Nature of Weather Conditions Prevailing

WINNIPEG, Nov. 8.—A thousand miles apart at Churchill terminus of the Hudson's Bay Railway in the Far North and at Winnipeg, capital of Manitoba, preparations are under way for the arrival of the McAlpine party of explorers.

From Churchill, several men were dispatched today to Rosebel Lake, located eight miles from the northern coast, to find a suitable landing place for the ski equipped planes of the Blanchet relief expedition, which will return Col. C. D. H. McAlpine and his seven companions to the outside.

A survey of ice conditions at Rosebel Lake will be made by the party, tests conducted as to its thickness and strength, and if this small lake is found unsuitable, other likely landing places in the adjacent district will be looked over. Tonight, no report had been received from the survey party in Winnipeg, civil and provincial authorities, through a committee appointed by the City Council, are co-operating in planning a reception for the explorers. Representatives of the City and Provincial Governments will welcome them upon their arrival here, while members of the flying club and other aerial associations in the city will join in the reception.

PARTY STILL RESTING
Two thousand miles from Winnipeg, at Burnside River, aerial base of the Dominion explorers, the McAlpine men, worn from their two months wandering on the barren along the Arctic shores, rested today along with Captain Blanchet and his pilots of the relief squadron.

Brought to Burnside River and Bathurst Inlet after being marooned on Victoria Island at the Cambridge Bay post of the Hudson's Bay Company, the explorers now await favorable flying weather before starting on a 1,000 mile aerial flight to Churchill via Baker Lake. From Churchill to Winnipeg is

Grading Fox Furs at Gilt Edge Farm

THE first practical demonstration of fox fur on Vancouver Island, given last week at the Gilt Edge Farm by an expert representing one of the largest buying houses in the world, proved most valuable, confidence being established among the breeders present through what was stated by Mr. G. Mayer, of Huth & Co., London and New York, who had charge of the demonstration. His remarks completely refuted the statements of the pessimists who have been holding for years past that the industry would be the cause of an overstocked market. Mr. Mayer stated he had been in touch with the fur market for the past twenty-five years and if Vancouver Island could produce five thousand good pelts this year they would get more per pelt for them, as the large fur traders would make greater efforts to get such a number of high grade pelts. He definitely stated that all the large fur houses advertised their different sections according to the amount of good pelts offered.

The three foxes on the table are classed as high grade. There is one medium silver, one full silver and one dark cross, all, according to Mr. Mayer, being of excellent quality. No farmer, he said, need worry as long as it was possible for him to raise this grade of fur.

Another thousand miles which the McAlpine party will cover by train. Heavy fog which swept across the northland on Tuesday and again on Thursday, is believed prevalent again today, but no definite word has been received from Col. McAlpine or Captain Blanchet until the day. No news from the North is anticipated tonight as the Government radio station at Ottawa, the lone channel of communication with Bathurst, via Churchill is closed, due to motor mishap. Bathurst is sixty miles to the north of Burnside River and the radio station of the Dominion explorers.

The opinion was expressed here today that the southward flight from Burnside to Baker Lake, a distance of 300 miles, would not be possible for at least two days. But, as pointed out by Mr. W. L. Brinnell, of the Western Canada Airways, who has taken over direct control of the air operations of the relief squadron at Winnipeg, all depends on flying conditions, and even longer delay may be expected.

PEDESTRIANS COME UNDER BYLAW, TOO
VANCOUVER, Nov. 8.—The City Council today sealed the doom of the jaywalker. By a unanimous vote the new traffic by-laws were passed and will be in force on January 1.

This means that pedestrians as well as vehicles will be subject to traffic regulations. Jaywalking within a block of signals and trotting onward with the red light showing, will be punishable. Children with scooters and on roller skates will be ruled off the sidewalks. The new law also provides for new through streets and changes in parking regulations.

Burgess Bedtime Stories

Sammy Jay Loses a Few Feathers

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Revenge will stoop to any deed; For mercy it is vain to plead—Old Mother Nature.

A hunter who had no business there was tramping through the Green Forest. He knew that he had no business there. He had seen and read the signs warning hunters to keep off that land—signs that Farmer Brown had had placed. But he knew that Farmer Brown and Farmer Brown's Boy were away that day, so he had taken the chance to go over in the Green Forest, hoping to shoot Mr. and Mrs. Grouse or some of their family.

Flip the Terrier had saved Mr. and Mrs. Grouse and then Sammy Jay had followed the hunter and had warned Jumper the Hare just in time. So Jumper had escaped. Now the hunter was angry, very angry. He muttered to himself as he tramped along. And all the time following silently. Sammy Jay kept him in sight. Sammy flew from tree to tree. He was never far behind that hunter. His sharp eyes watched the ground ahead of that hunter. Sammy intended to warn any one whom he might see. He didn't intend that that hunter should shoot anyone in the Green Forest if he, Sammy, could help it.

The hunter was still muttering when he caught a glimpse of Happy Jack Squirrel. Happy Jack had not seen the hunter, nor had he seen the hunter's dog. He was up in a tree busily opening a nut. It was the dropping of a piece of nutshell that had drawn the attention of the hunter. At first the hunter didn't see Happy Jack, but he knew just where Happy Jack was sitting. He began to steal forward very carefully, holding his gun in readiness. Sammy Jay noticed this and immediately began to look for the reason. His sharp eyes discovered Happy Jack almost at once. Open flew Sammy's mouth and he began to scream at the top of his lungs: "Thief, thief, thief! The nut he was eating and hastily looked about. Almost at once he saw the hunter. He whistled around the opposite side of the tree, so as to keep the trunk of the tree between him and the hunter. Happy Jack is very smart at this game. In spite of all the hunter could do, Happy managed to keep the tree-trunk between them. Then he saw a chance to leap to another tree and disappear in a hole.

The hunter was angrier than ever. He had lost a chance to get either Mr. or Mrs. Grouse because of Flip the Hare because of Sammy Jay, and again because of Happy Jack. He had lost a chance to get Happy Jack Squirrel. So the hunter was very much out of sorts, indeed. He sat down on a log to wait and watch. His gun was where he could pick it up quickly. By and by he caught a glimpse of blue in the top of a tree. It was what he was waiting for. He pointed his gun at Sammy Jay and fired. Bang! The gun! A few blue feathers came fluttering down. But Sammy Jay himself flew away and as he flew he screamed louder than ever. Moreover, he didn't fly far. He had lost a few feathers, but fortunately he wasn't hurt, and when he had recovered from the fright he had received he once more began to follow the hunter. He was more determined than ever that this hunter should kill none of the little people of the Green Forest if he could help it.

Blind Headquarters Will Remain Open During Next Week
ARRANGEMENTS have been made for keeping open the headquarters for the campaign in aid of the blind throughout the whole of next week. The office, situated at 1203 Broad Street, will be open between the hours of 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. in order to receive the number of late contributions expected.

Fifty canvassing sheets have been distributed throughout the Provincial Parliament Buildings, and not one of these has been returned to the office yet. A number of the larger firms in Victoria, moreover, have asked for an extension of time for their employees who are paid, in many cases, in the middle of the month.

In the meantime, contributions are coming in hourly. Yesterday canvassers called upon a subscriber who was celebrating his sixty-second birthday, and who promised to write a cheque for $2. Every day workers at headquarters meet instances of real generosity and are loud in their appreciation of the manner in which the citizens of Victoria have responded to their request.

ROYAL COMMISSION IS NEARING ITS END

Investigation Into Alleged Builders' Combine in Toronto Comes to Conclusion at Once

TORONTO, Nov. 8.—The Royal Commission, under Mr. Gordon W. Wilson, K.C., inquiring into the affairs of the amalgamated Builders' Council and other organizations, reached its conclusion today. Any future sitings will be held on announcement when deemed necessary.

At the conclusion of today's sitting the commissioner announced he would find in his report to the Minister of Labor, that "during the so-called period of the guild—(The Plumbing and Heating Guild)—a combine was in operation notwithstanding professions of Mr. Louis M. Singer that he cautioned against it. My report will be," he added, "that he was always counselling combine practices."

Mr. F. W. Grimthorpe, counsel to the commission, speaking of his recent visit to Mr. Singer, said he had found "practically no journeymen there." They were not satisfied with their $1.50 rate," he said, "but wanted a profit on top as master plumbers. Prices on plumbing supplies and labor were said to have jumped after Singer left there. There are a lot of plumbers in Port William," he went on, "who won't work. They go off and play pedro at 3 o'clock at a club."

Seek to Bring Manitoba Into Rate Appeal

Mr. Leon Lader, K.C., of Vancouver, was in the city today on legal business. As the representative of the Province of British Columbia in the freight rates appeal to the Privy Council of Canada, Mr. Lader said that there was a little lull in the matter, as far as the advancing of the case was actually concerned, owing to the fact that those interested in Manitoba, really the Boards of Trade and other commercial bodies, were in negotiation with the Province of Saskatchewan, looking to the petition.

If Manitoba joins in the move there will then be a solid sentiment representative of the four Western Provinces, which it is felt will materially strengthen the appeal which is in hand looking to redress along lines connected with freight matters.

The situation therefore, says Mr. Lader, looks more favorable than ever before. There is every expectation that Manitoba may join in the matter, and then a very comprehensive plan will be formulated, supported by all four provinces.

The Privy Council of Canada gave a ruling on October 13, allowing a clear month within which to make any changes in the petition presented. On November 15 the case will close as far as the presentation of the petition is concerned, and the situation will then be open to argument by the various counsel represented.

ROYAL TRAGEDY IS REVEALED BY RECORDS FOUND

Riddle of Court of Louis XV Is Solved—Pathetic Story of Marie-Anne de Bourbon-Conde

HUSBAND KILLED ON WEDDING DAY

By JOSEPHINE HAMILTON
(Staff Correspondent, Canadian Press)
PARIS, Nov. 8.—"Pour toujours." Day by day, the search in France becomes more keen for those old letters and forgotten records which bring classic figures of the past within the pale of a common humanity. The truth of a man's life (if he was a Frenchman of some note in his time and that time fell within the last two centuries) is pretty certain to be revealed by the diligent biographer of today. Be the subject a woman, no labor is held too great that discovers some fugitive note to enlighten her past. Enigmas are solved. Men and women, whose lives were a mystery to their contemporaries, become to us an open book.

One of the riddles of the Court of Louis XV was why the lovely Marie-Anne de Bourbon-Conde, daughter of the Duke of Bourbon, all powerful as the favorite of the young king, Louis XV. Her brother had set his heart on a royal alliance for her. By a cruel fatality he chose to reveal to his confidant, Louis de Melun, Duc de Joyeuse, his plans for his sister. To the amazement of his friend, the Duc de Joyeuse the same night left the Chateau de Chantilly, residence of the Bourbons—where he had so often stayed as a friend of the Duke—and left the court. He excused himself to the king, and to his friends by saying that his long-neglected lands needed him.

The heavy dual carriage rumbled on into the country while the Duc de Melun, in vain for a glimpse of Marie-Anne. At the first stop, however, he was aroused from his gloomy thoughts by the arrival of a courier who had pursued him post haste. The courier handed him a letter. It was short, for a court epistle. For a love letter it was not enough; it contained just the words: "Pour toujours" (Forever).

But in those two words the Demoiselle de Clermont had poured all her young and ardent love. The note was signed: Louis de Bourbon-Conde-Joyeuse. And, in so signing it, Marie-Anne de Bourbon-Conde had bled her brother's will and the rules of etiquette. In name if not in fact, she had celebrated the marriage desired of her heart.

OSMUNDSEN SIGNED BY VICTORIA CUBS AGAIN

Peden Bros. Defeat Victoria Capitals in Fast Cage Game

Chalk Up 22-12 Victory as Caps Take First Setback of Season—West Road Rally and Defeat Keating, 27-26—Fidelis Win

Bud Hocking and his Peden Bros. cagers threw a monkey wrench into the early season championship aspirations of the Victoria Capitals, Vancouver Island champions, at the Victoria High School last night, when they trounced them soundly to the tune of a 22-12 defeat. The victory placed Peden Bros. on even terms with the Caps in the race for the men's senior "A" honors. Each of the quintettes have won two and lost one game. In the other fixtures, Fidelis, women's "B" quintette, defeated Keating, 21-9, and West Road, men's "B" five, came from behind and won from Keating by a lone point, the final score being 27-26.

The Peden Bros.-Capitals battle was no old maid's party, but one of the finest, fastest and most bitterly contested games of the league. The handline of the Peden Bros. was a real show, and the Capitals were forced to step down one last night and admit defeat at the hands of a team which beat them soundly and fairly. The better quintette won.

WINNERS OPEN SCORE
The winners were the first to score when Tommy Watcher dropped the leather home shortly after the start. Nunn Forbes, skipper of the Capitals, netted their first point when he sent the ball through the hoop on a foul shot. This was followed by a field basket by Doc Webster, giving the Capitals the lead for the first and only time during the forty minutes of fast play. Joe Rose and Stan Moore scored field baskets for Peden Bros., and gave their teammates a lead which they increased as the battle progressed. With the arrival of half-time the winners were on the long end of a 10-4 score.

Again, in the second half, the Caps were out-scored, when Peden Bros. netted twelve points to their eight.

Norman Forbes was the first man to score in this half when he dropped the leather home on a foul shot. For the next thirteen minutes Peden Bros. held their opponents scoreless, and at the same time added nine points themselves. Caps were fighting night and main against a fast, youthful machine, which was their master. Finding it impossible to break through close to the basket they tried long shots, some from the centre of the floor, but in vain.

Irvine finally managed to drop home a field goal, skillfully followed on a foul shot, and then Tommy Forbes and Irvine each scored field baskets for the Capitals' last points.

While it would be unfair to pick any individual star from the winners' line-up, the work of "Chucky" Chapman, sorrell-topped, lanky youth, was the cause of much comment. Allan LeMarquand and Bob Whyte handled the game and the teams were:

Peden Bros.—Moore (2), Hocking (1), Watcher (4), Chapman (6), Ross (5), Little (4), and White (1).
Capitals—Webster (2), Skilling (1), Irvine (4), Cudlip, T. Forbes (2), Turpin, McKenzie and N. Forbes (2).

GREAT FINISH

In one of the greatest finishes seen on a local floor, West Road cagers came from behind a 20-13 count at half-time, and defeated Keating 27-26. The victory was George Lannon, of the Road, pulled

Common Faults in Taking Stance

COMMON STANCE FAULTS
TOO RIGID
WEIGHT ON RIGHT LEG

By SOL METZGER
Many golfers start off wrong because they do not understand the fundamentals of the swing. You'll see them address the ball either with the weight evenly balanced between their two feet, or what is even worse, with the greater share of their weight on their right foot.

Neither is conducive to good golf. The weight should be a bit more on the left than the right leg at address. That is the natural way to carry it, though many easily swing it to the right side without knowledge of doing so, because the lowered right shoulder tends to place it there. Next—the best way to prevent this.

WASHINGTON HOPES TO UPSET STANFORD AT SEATTLE TODAY

SEATTLE, Nov. 8.—With a clear break day expected, the Stanford-University grid game here tomorrow is expected to be a battle of deception, with the visiting Cardinals a big favorite to win. Signing of Right Winger Completes Roster of Locals

By Ripley

Twelve Men Now on Payroll—Oliver Redpath Will Report Back to Victoria Team Next Week—Anderson Satisfied With Squad

Osie Osmundsen, the sheikish-looking youth who broke into professional company last year with the Victoria Cubs, will be given another chance to show his stuff, according to an announcement made yesterday by President Stanley Patrick. For some time it was thought that Osmundsen would be released, but when Manager Anderson saw the dire need of a right wing man, it was decided to bring him back. Osmundsen played great hockey two years ago when the Victoria Capitals won the Intercity championship, and everyone figured he had the makings of a big leaguer. Last year, however, he slumped badly and failed to show anything worth while. He was on the bench most of the time, but this year will see more action, which should help his game.

Word was received yesterday that Oliver Redpath had decided to wend his way back to the Cubs' lair. Redpath, who is under contract to the local outfit, attempted to jump to the majors without consulting the local league, and was promptly sent to Pittsburgh. Rates for a try-out, President Patrick reported this to President Calder, of the National League, who promptly told Mr. Redpath to report to the Cubs.

With the bringing of Redpath to terms, the roster of the local ice team is complete. It follows:

Goal, Earl Robertson; defence, Oliver Redpath, Ernie Kenny and Herman Runge; forwards, Jack Kelly, Jimmy Evans, Paul Runge, Ernie Leacock, Ken Williamson, Tommy McInelly, Odie Lowe and Osie Osmundsen.

Yesterday afternoon the boys went through a strenuous session, and the team is rapidly rounding into form. Manager Anderson had two forward lines working against the defence, and is well satisfied with the signing of Redpath, the Cubs look like the most powerful club in the loop; and with any kind of breaks should be one of the chief contenders this year.

JOHNSON TO QUIT HOCKEY

Star Defenceman of New York Rangers Refuses to Accept Terms of Contract and Decides to Retire

GOTHAM SQUAD TO BE REVAMPED

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Ching Johnson, one of the outstanding defence stars in professional hockey, has decided to retire from the game after dickered some time with Colonel John Hammond, president of the New York Rangers, over the subject of increased salary.

"Ching demands a salary beyond anything we can pay," Colonel Hammond said. "We have removed him from our plans for the season."

Johnson said he would devote his time to the management of oil properties he owns in the West.

Colonel Hammond reluctantly disclosed his failure to come to terms with his defence ace.

"I was prepared to give 'Ching' a substantial increase, but he paid him under his old contract," Hammond said, "but I was unable to grant as big an increase as Johnson himself seems to think he is entitled to."

Without the services of Johnson the Rangers management will be called upon to revamp their lineup, with "Yep" Pest the most likely candidate to fill the defensive role, with Leo Bourguault as teammate.

Another likely prospect is Leo Quenneville, who is reported to be a husky youth, with plenty of speed and a willing worker.

MARKETING PLAN TO BE DEVELOPED

Vancouver Livestock Exchange, Ltd., Will Supply Meat Products to Wholesalers

VANCOUVER, Nov. 8.—To the producer of foodstuffs in this province it will doubtless be of interest that an active attempt is now being made to establish what it is hoped will develop into a large co-operative market for the placing of farm products to the city wholesaler under the most advantageous conditions.

The Vancouver Livestock Exchange, Ltd., has been formed with that object in view and, as a base for operations, the property and plant of the Burrard Packing Co., at the foot of Fraser Avenue, have been acquired. The plant is conveniently situated for the city wholesaler buyer and has also adequate incoming rail service facilities. Mr. George C. Hay, manager of the exchange, is well known by the farmers of the province and his efforts to organize the agriculturists of British Columbia at last show promise of bearing fruit. Mr. Thomas H. Baird, livestock superintendent, is also a prominent and active figure in British Columbia pastoral circles.

In addition to the extensive yardage facilities afforded at the exchange, a custom killing plant is also in operation and has been taken full advantage of by the purchasers of stock. With the facilities which the exchange has at its disposal and from the support which it has been accorded by the wholesale butchers of Vancouver, it should not be a difficult matter to convince the producer of the desirability of his using the exchange as a channel for the disposal of his products.

It must be clearly understood that the exchange is not operating and does not propose to operate as a packing house. Its activities are confined to an endeavor to provide what the directors believe will be a profitable outlet for the product of the breeders of British Columbia and, after that, to afford facilities for the handling of that product in the most economical way for the purchaser. How far toward this end the Vancouver Livestock Exchange Limited will be able to direct its patrons it is at present problematical to conjecture, but the support received from wholesale purchasers and producers alike has been of a most satisfactory character and gives promise of the establishment of a market in keeping with the rapid growth of the city of Vancouver.

It must not be deduced from the above that killing beasts provide the whole of the trade at the exchange. There is a constant and ever-increasing demand for breeding and feeding stock from all over the province. That demand is steadily becoming more widespread and the exchange is preparing to meet and handle that increase.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK MCCOY

INFLAMED NERVES
The term "Neuritis" means an inflammation of a nerve. The degree of pain felt varies with the amount of inflammation. The nerve trunk may be extremely tender so that the patient cannot bear pressure on it. Some patients describe the pain as burning, burning and shooting. Since many nerves contain mixed fibres, of which the motor fibres move the muscles, the sensory fibres bring sensation, while others control nutrition and blood supply, one can readily see that when a nerve is affected any one or all of these functions may be disturbed. For instance, some of the motor symptoms are loss of muscular power, and if the legs are involved the patient may find it difficult to walk and the knee jerk reflex disappears, and the usual faradic or electrical reflex of the muscle is altered. The sensory symptoms are numbness and tingling and with a sense of ants crawling over the skin, which may be followed with severe pain to last through the whole course of the disease.

The pain is continuous and is made more severe upon the slightest movement. The skin may become extremely sensitive to the touch and become so tender that even the weight of blankets may seem too heavy. When nutritional nerves are involved the skin may wrinkle, become thin, and be very shiny. Swelling under the skin may also occur.
It should be remembered that the usual cause of neuritis is a toxic or poisonous substance which has been circulating in the blood but becomes accumulated around the nerve, irritating it and causing it to become inflamed. The treatment should aim at removing this toxic cause and treatment should be taken as early as possible to prevent nerve degeneration from prolonged inflammation.

The use of alcohol to excess, or the absorption of arsenic or lead, make a decided predisposition to neuritis. Trembling is characteristic of alcoholic, arsenical and lead poisoning in case of neuritis accompanied by the tingling and numbness.
It sometimes happens that the cause of neuritis will be found to be purely mechanical misplacement of the bones, usually in the spine. In these cases the symptoms often disappear after a few treatments.

MISHIMA MARU IS DUE NOVEMBER 16

Nippon Yusen Kaisha Liner Has 125 Tons of Cargo for Discharge

Having left Yokohama on November 2, the Nippon Yusen Kaisha liner Mishima Maru is expected at Rialto pier on November 16, according to Mr. Alfred H. Hebb, agent.

For this port the vessel carries one first class passenger, one second class and one third class, with 125 tons of cargo and 134 bales of raw silk. There are eighteen first class, fifteen second and twenty third class passengers for Seattle.

Further details of the drowing of Mr. S. T. Warren, lightkeeper at Entrance Island, Quatsino Sound, on October 22, were learned upon arrival of C.O.S. Esteyan from the scene of the tragedy on Thursday evening.

Entrance Island is one of the several light stations on the Vancouver Island coast which are approachable only under very favorable weather conditions. Carrying the mail from Quatsino around the north end of Vancouver Island to Hardy Bay on the west coast, the little gabooner Kinky Kid drops the mail for the light, leaving it with the keeper when the sea permits the launching of the lighthouse boat and its rowing out to get it.

While there was a considerable sea running on the day of the tragedy, Warren, his wife and elder son, who were on the boat, were out, the other members of the family watching him go. When within a hundred yards of the shore, the watchers were terrified to see him fall out of the boat, a wave striking it under the bilge, causing the occupant to go overboard. Thinking that he would immediately take hold of the boat and climb in as it had not been upset, the mother and eldest daughter, Doris, aged sixteen, began to weep when the father made no effort to do so.

Without hesitating, the girl plunged into the sea and swam to the body, knowing her father could not swim. When she reached it she found him unconscious. In the meantime a younger sister, Margery, aged eleven, had climbed along the side of the rocky bluff with a line and the mother, unable to get that way on account of its steep and slippery character, climbed over the bluff and approached as near as possible to the sea.

Although the surf was breaking over them, the younger girl succeeded in throwing the line to her sister in the water, and between mother and daughter they dragged the body to the shore, where the eldest daughter was badly cut and bruised on the rocks as she was hurried her against them. They remained in that position, holding on as best they could, until the mail boat came, when they were rescued.

Japanese Buy Big Freighter Esther Dollar

VANCOUVER, Nov. 8.—Sale of the deep-sea freighter Ss. Chief Skidegate, formerly the Esther Dollar, to Japanese interests was announced this morning by Mr. A. McVillie Dollar, head of the Chief Line, of Vancouver.

Ss. Chief Skidegate is a steel vessel of 4,885 net register tons, and is 48 feet long, 57 feet beam and 32 feet deep. She was built at Glasgow in 1899. At Shanghai her Chinese crew will be discharged.

Entrance Island is one of the several light stations on the Vancouver Island coast which are approachable only under very favorable weather conditions. Carrying the mail from Quatsino around the north end of Vancouver Island to Hardy Bay on the west coast, the little gabooner Kinky Kid drops the mail for the light, leaving it with the keeper when the sea permits the launching of the lighthouse boat and its rowing out to get it.

While there was a considerable sea running on the day of the tragedy, Warren, his wife and elder son, who were on the boat, were out, the other
